

SECTION 1:

Aurangzeb rule (1658-1707)

- ruled in favor of muslims
- other religious groups infuriated
- imposed tax on non muslims (jizya)
- destroyed hindu temples
- successors bad
- after his death, muslim power and influence disintegrated
- muslim groups then set up (revival needed)

Before 1830

- no knowledge about islam for muslims, deteriorated into helplessness, disorganized
- Punjab under sikh rule
- shah Waliullah-translation of Quran to Persian (main language)
- also published books
- Syed ahmad brailvi – jihad movement (armed struggle to liberate nwfp and Punjab from sikh)
- Muslims couldn't practice islam
- Haji Shariatullah- faraizi movement (muslims should perform religious obligations)
- faraizis grew in number (hindus alarmed)
- his work carried on by son

1830's

- Titu Mir, horrified by muslim farmers oppression in west bengal in 1830's,
- Small army near Calcutta
- Provoked British, died in battle 1831

Mid 1800's

- british claimed most of India in the beginning of 1800's, but mughal's lost all their territory by 1850
- Industrial revolution – better weapons, better coordination and dominance asserted, not much opposition

EIC:

Trading company, Charter granted in 1600 by queen Elizabeth I, started off in "surat", permission to trade in 1612, moved to Bombay in 1664, grew powerful in the 18th century

1858

- British takes controls of EIC due to
 - huge volumes of trade, couldn't be left in the hands of a private company.
 - Fear of Russian expansion in central asia
- Thus the government expanded further into Afghanistan to counter this threat, prestige at stake, further expansion became inevitable due to defeat of afghans
- The English wanted to establish influence in the sub-continent to oust the dutch and Portuguese
- Also difficult to break into spice trade in East Indies due to dutch dominance, India good alternative
- Trading interests protected

Reasons for downfall of Mughal empire

- Emperors known for living a lazy, weak, corrupt and extravagant lifestyle, don't care abt country's economy
- Absence of definite line of succession led to internal turmoil and fighting
- Akbar's religious policy
- Expense of deccan wars
- No military coordination
- Financial inefficiencies
- Vastness of the empire made it easy for invasions

Outcomes to stop British Invasion:

- Successes:
 - power of local nawabs
 - Early success of tipu sultan
 - Ranjit singh
- Failures:
 - Strength of british army
 - Eventual failure of tipu sultan and ranjit singh conquests of british against weaker opposition

Doctrine of Lapse: General Dalhousie most associated with it, if a ruler dies with no natural heir associated, English have the right to annex the land e.g. oudh

Marathas

- Lived in the Deccan
- Devoted to Hinduism
- Skilful warriors (hindi guerrilla fighters)
- Defeated Mughal army in 1737, took control of delhi and Bengal
- By 1760, most powerful people
- Defeated by afghans in 1761 in Panipat

Ranjit Singh

- Annexed Punjab, Kashmir, most of Afghanistan
- Signed treaty with British in 1809
- Britain worried about Russian Expansion
- Britain annexed Sindh and later Punjab

Tipu Sultan

- Son of Haider Ali, both resisted British Rule
- He had French support, British concerned
- Tiger of Mysore
- Won important victories against british (anglo mysore wars)
- Negotiated treaty of mangalore
- Treatment of conquered non-muslim subjects controversial
- Remained enemy of British
- Forced into humiliating treaty in third anglo mysore war, lost control of previously conquered territories
- Finally defeated in 4th war by combined effort of Nizam of Hyderabad and British, died in 1799

Robert Clive

- General in EIC and armed forces in India
- Defeated French
- Plassey outlined his qualities as a leader and soldier
- British supremacy in Bengal after Clive made governor
- Increased power of merchants
- Established Oudh as buffer state between Marathas and Bengal
- Reforms introduced
- Civil reforms, dual system government, private trade system abolished
- Found not guilty of plundering india
- Got addicted to opium and committed suicide in 1773

Reforms from British between 1773 – 1856

- Macauley – western schools, british ideas superior
 - Above idea insensitive, as it would alienate most Indians
 - Does not consider their cultural and religious feelings
 - Missionaries came to convert Indians
 - Resented by sikhs, muslims etc
 - Local languages (persian, Sanskrit replaced)
 - Social reforms (suttee and female infanticide banned)
 - Co-education resented
 - Purdha forced to abandon
 - Doctrine of Lapse
 - Railway revolutionised communication
 - More profits for british (transporting raw materials to ports)
 - Advantages for Indians as well, famine reduced
- Battle of Plassey
- 1756
 - French encouraged Nawab of Bengal to attack EIC base in Calcutta
 - Captured, but couldn't keep control
 - Robert Clive sought to retake it with a lot of soldiers, bribes to nawab's key man
 - Led to battle of Plassey
 - EIC started controlling trade
 - Clive made governor of Bengal

British Success in Invasions from 1750 – 1850:

- Battles Plassey and Buxar, vast riches of Bengal retrieved
- Trading links, network of roads, railways, better communication, soldiers could travel easily
- Favourable trading rights with local nawabs
- Better resources
- Some rulers even cooperated with british (spies) maybe
- Better weapons etc
- Introduced governor generals, more control

The Indian Cotton Industry:

- Indian production of cotton discouraged, british production favoured
- Only allowed to grow to supply british looms
- Skilled workers had to work in EIC
- High tariffs prevented Indian goods from reaching Britain
- No duty on british goods reaching india

Zamindars:

- Landlords/taxcollectors
- Wealthy, some had private armies
- After death of Aurangzeb, unwilling to make payments to any government in delhi
- Beard tax annoyed muslims
- Oppressed muslims from 1800 onwards

Causes of War of Independence:

- British forced Indians to adapt to new norms without consultation (cultural feelings not taken into account)
- Christian Missionaries taught Christianity forcefully, expected other religions to be given up
- Educational reforms
 - Co-education
 - English as official language, replacing persian and Sanskrit in 1832
- Purdha abandoned, Indian custom for centuries
- Doctrine of Lapse under Dalhousie
- New musket cartridge coated in pig and cow fat, muslims and hindus both despised

Failure of War of independence:

- Lack of unity between Indians
- Punjab and local rules helping british
- British had better coordination, weapons etc.
- Diplomatic and military mechanisms used to limit extent of conflict
- No single leader, Bhadur Shah not accepted by Hindus
- Many thought Bhadur Shah did not have strong leadership skills, more of a figurehead
- Rani of Jhansi and Bhadur worked alone
- Indian princes more focused on restoring their own power, depended upon British

Battle of Kanpur (1857):

- Sepoys in Delhi refused to take cartridges
- Given long prison sentences
- Led to revolt by fellow sepoys, killed their officers, Nana Sahib led
- British surrendered after 3 weeks
- 300 women and children slaughtered and soldiers, remainder kept as prisoners
- British took revenge
- Sahib escaped

Sutte:

- Hindu tradition
- Ritual burning of widows on funeral pyre of husbands
- British ignored practice to not offend high caste hindus
- In 1813 became voluntary, would only get banned if hindus themselves opposed to it
- Outlawed in 1829 by EIC, later in rest of India by Lord Bentinck
- Remained legal in some princely states, though isolated incidents did occur

SIR SYED AHMED KHAN

- Wrote many books to show that muslims were only partly to blame for war of independence
- Wanted democratic rights, but this could only be done with separate electorates
- British should try to understand muslims better
- Sir Syed used "Nadarath" to describe British meaning "helper", in an attempt to remove misunderstanding between them
- Also improved position of muslims through education
- Muslim-Anglo Oriental College, 1876. Became University of Aligarh, provided knowledge for future leaders
- Believed muslims would never win election due to majority being hindu population, strove for separate electorates and seats for muslims
- Forerunner for future demand of separate homeland for Muslims
- If muslims wanted to improve their status, they had to accept more British ideas and take advantage of British education, and their social and economic conditions could be improved by taking up posts in the army and civil service
- If this isn't done, others would prosper

- He wrote tabyīn al kalam and tried to explain the similarities of Christianity and Islam
- Was offended by a book he read in Britain about the Prophet
- As a result, wrote his own work
- Founder Scientific society of Ghazipore
- Wanted to make scientific writings available to muslims by translating from English to Urdu

Aligarh Movement

- The Aligarh Movement was the push to establish a modern system of education for the Muslim population of British India
- Was established as Sir Syed wanted to improve relations between muslims and british
- Wanted to improve social and economic positions of muslims by getting them into western education, taking up posts
- Wanted to increase political awareness between muslims
- Also wanted to make them aware of Hindu policy of cooperation with British

Hindi-Urdu Controversy

- Hindus wanted Hindi as official language in 1867
- Sir Syed and Muslims took offense to this, as Urdu held a lot of meaning to them
- Even scientific society Hindus were hoping for the journals to be published in Hindi
- Sir Syed was thinking that Hindus were working against interests of Muslims
- Led to two nation theory

URDU AND REGIONAL LANGUAGES

- Urdu
 - considered language of muslims for 300 years
 - Associated with Pakistani movement throughout struggle with hindus and British
 - Uniting force after independence, as government is committed to using it in all levels of society
- Punjabi
 - Regional language of Punjab
 - Popular among sufi poets due to their romantic folk poetry, poems contributed to popularity of Punjabi
 - Government ensured its development by supporting the institutions that were using it

- Sindhi
 - was felt that the literature and work undertaken by authors in such areas as Sindh should be kept alive
 - First written in “Marwari” and “Arz Nagari” then switched to Arabic
 - Sindh Literary Board, 1948
 - Printed many books and magazines in this language
 - Sindhiology department set up at Sindh University Jamshoro.
 - Sarmast academy established in memory of Sachal Sarmast
 - After 1972 riots, government was to give special importance to promotion of Sindhi
- Balochi
 - Language was declining
 - Gov felt that it should not die
 - Balochi Literary Association
 - Broadcasted through radio
 - Also promoted through Quetta television station
 - Poets came up: Atta Shad, IshqShamin, Gul Khan Nazir and Azad, Jamal Din.
- Pashto
 - Boosted after independence, poets contributed to the freedom struggle
 - Played a huge role in movement for independence

CIE TUTORS
—SALMAN HASHMI—

Bengal Partition:

- Of 54 mil ppl in Bengal, 42 million were Hindus
- Seemed sensible to divide on religious grounds
- Easier to govern, as it was becoming large
- Could pose some administrative problems if not divided
- Easier to administer as a new British government was in power
- Muslims believed this would end Hindu oppression
- Reversed in 1911
 - Hindus thought of it as a “divide and rule” by British, would weaken Hindu unity
 - Held mass rallies and meetings to put pressure on British, terrorist activities
 - Attempted to assassinate Lord Minto, boycotted British goods (Swadeshi Movement, threw British cloth in bonfires, series of strikes by Indian workers, wearing locally produced clothes)
 - Hindu objection was so prominent, British reconsidered
 - Viceroy who originated the idea no longer viceroy, easier to change policy

Morley Minto Reforms

- Became law in 1909 as Indian Councils Act
- British intended Indians could voice their opinion more in councils
- Hindus wanted more
- Hindus were hoping for self rule, as they were the majority, it would be led by Hindus (dominant force)
- Separate electorates for Muslims granted
Hindus annoyed and resented Muslim's higher position in councils
- Saw it as a concession too far

Muslim League:

- Founded in 1906
- Muslim rights wouldn't be advanced if dependent on Congress, only advanced Hindu views
- Congress was saying India should be treated as a cultural whole, Hindi should be declared official language
- Muslims would be disunited and disorganized if no group created
- Hindu nationalist groups arose, which tried to forcibly convert Muslims
- Therefore, a number of prominent Muslim leaders founded Muslim League

Simla Deputation/Delegation:

- Muslims demands for separate representation and electorates accepted by British
- Muslim-British relations improved
- Paved the way for demands for a separate homeland
- Removed previous bad feelings from those parties
- Guaranteed Muslims a separate political role, led to creation of Muslim League

Lucknow Pact:

- Agreement on scheme of constitutional reforms reached between Muslim League and Congress
- Realized that co-operation: might lead to self rule
- Hindus acknowledged Muslims had a right to a separate electorate
- Beacon of hope
- Montague Chelmsford Reforms:
 - Establishing legislative councils with a system of diarchy
 - First time British mentioned the possibility of self rule
 - Congress and Muslim League still not impressed, hoped for more concessions
 - British reserved most powers for itself
- Self-rule was still an aim, cordial relationship sustained
- Nehru report:
 - 1928, constitutional guarantee of fundamental rights including freedom of conscience and liberty, central government responsible for peace and order, Dominion Status, India to become a federation with a 2 chamber parliament, protection of minorities, vote for all men and women.
- Nehru report ended this hope
 - Minimal Muslim representation
 - Dominion status
 - No need for separate electorates
 - Alienated the Muslims, marked the end of cooperation between Congress and Muslim League
 - Quaid-e-Azam produced his 14 points, in which he proposed 3 amendments to the report
 - Refused
 - This marked the “parting of ways”

Rowlatt Act:

- 1919
- No right of appeal
- Right to arrest without a warrant and detention without bail
- People could be ordered to live in a particular place, stopped from holding meetings
- Fear of communist style revolution, Indian protests

Amritsar Massacre:

- General Dyer, banning of public meetings in the city, 20000 crowd gathered, Jallianwala
- Bagh park, narrow entrances etc., no warning, troops fired on crowd, the well,
- High casualties, further measures followed the meeting, response of Dyer.

All India Khilafat Conference (1919):

- Led by Ali brothers, main purpose was to maintain Turkish Empire
- Maulana Abul Kalam and Gandhi represented congress
- Gandhi hoped to unite muslims and hindus in a non violent campaign against british
- Delegation sent to Britain, making sure they were aware of Muslim support for Khalifa

Khilafat Movement:

- Muslims held caliphate of Turkey in high regard
- Not prepped to see turkey split
- British government ensured that the status of caliph would be respected in order to secure Muslims involvement in World War I alongside Allies
- This promise was not kept
- Turkish Empire broken up
- Institution of Caliphate abolished
- After war, reports from Europe suggested that British and French wanted to punish Turks for support of Germans
- Several Indian muslims imprisoned in war as well, contributed to anger felt
- Khilafat movement founded

Failures:

- 1921 - Chaura Chauri (village in United Province) Incident:
 - Trouble between locals and british soldiers at Tirur Police station
 - 21 officers killed
 - Gandhi thought it was getting too violent, ended support for Swaraj Movement.

- Muslims infuriated, pressure on british reduced and weakened the movement
- 1920 - Thousands of muslims were migrating to Afghanistan in religious protest, but rejected entry
- Had to go back to India, most muslims lost jobs, homeless, or died on the way back
- Some leaders imprisoned: Maulana Muhammad Ali, made organization less effective
- Hindus and Gandhi especially were using the movement for their own benefits
- Muslim support for the movement slowly disintegrated
- decision of the Kamal Ataturk to form a nationalist government, no caliphates, in Turkey
- 1924- the end had been seen in the refusal of Lloyd George to accept the demands of the Movement.

Simon Report (1927)

- Chaired a commission to introduce further political reforms in India
- No Indian representation in the commission
- Opposed
- Membership had been carefully selected to oppose self-rule
- Congress, ML boycotted it
- Governors to choose ministers with majority support
- Provincial Prime Ministers free from control from governors
- NWFP to be given legislative council but no government
- Value friendship with Congress more than British concession
- Not on equal terms with British in framing new constitution
- Not satisfied with being only petitioners.

Government of India Act 1935:

- Provincial autonomy granted
- Every provincial government was able to devise their own programs and be responsible for their own legislature
- Ministers had control over all departments unless the governors wanted to veto a bill they disliked
- Kind of a drawback, as ministers didn't have full control
- Hindus thought of it as slavery
- Nonetheless, additional voting rights were given to the population, 5 times the previous number, 35 mil in total
- But still only 25% of population could vote

- Federal government provided provisions for the first time, which meant princely states could participate in political affairs
- External relations and defence key decisions were still controlled by British

Provincial Elections of 1937:

- Congress won absolute majorities in 5 provinces
- Largest party in 4 others
- Muslims disappointed
- Only won 109 seats which were in reserve for Muslims
- First election where ML fought, lessons learnt, realized reforms were needed
- Knew its support lied in areas where Muslims were a minority
- Image problem (ML members rich aristocrats relating to poor illiterate Muslims)
- Congress atrocities

Congress Rule:

- Hated by Muslims due to:
 - Atrocities committed
 - Abused and killed by Hindus
 - Azaan banned
 - Organized attacks in Mosques
 - Bande Matram became National Anthem
 - Wardha Scheme,
 - Forced to study in temples

Jinnah's 14 Points

- Produced because:
 - Set out demands for any future negotiations between Muslims and British
 - Set the basis for Muslim demands for a separate homeland
 - Also convinced that Hindus and Muslims were 2 different nations

Round table conferences:

Why were these held?

- Lack of unity between Muslims and Hindus
- British unsure what to do next, held these conferences
- Rejection of Simon Commission by Indians another reason to hold
- British Labour government support Indian nationalism, hope for the conferences
- Less progress due to Congress not attending first conference
- Lord Irwin met Gandhi so that another conference may be held

- Gandhi was insisting that he represented the whole of India and Congress
- Conference broke up due to British saying a solution would be implemented if no resolution reached
- Therefore third conference held

Failures:

- 1st:
 - Congress boycotted it
 - Deadlock on federal system
 - Minorities sub-committee couldn't reach a conclusion
- 2nd:
 - Gandhi stubborn, disagreed with most things, 14 points refused
 - New British government less keen to reach a compromise in India
 - Gandhi still didn't agree to minority rights
- 3rd:
 - Congress absent again
 - Jinnah couldn't attend due to personal issues

Successes:

- 1st:
 - Federal system for India approved Sindh to have a separate identity and government
- 2nd:
 - Minorities entered into an agreement on their demands

Wardha Scheme:

- By Gandhi
- Hindu sole language
- Basic education system
- No religious studies
- Cotton spinning in curriculum
- Bowing before pic of Gandhi

Day of Deliverance (December 1939):

- Justified:
 - Atrocities against Muslims in Congress rule
 - Bande Matram
 - Wardha scheme
 - Attempts to convert to Hinduism
- Unjustified
 - Unity between Muslim League and Congress irreconcilable
 - Chance of a future with India less likely

- Congress had resigned partly because Britain stated that India was at war with Germany. Therefore the ML was able to celebrate because Britain was probably more concerned with the war than the future of India

Cripps Mission

- British wanted support for second world war, india to be given:
- Dominion status
- India to be given constituent assembly to draft up the constitution
- No Pakistan in the plan
- Led to quit india resolution

How did the name 'Pakistan' originate?

- Chaudhry Rehmat Ali devised the name.
- Stated in pamphlet 'Now or Never' in 1933.
- By end of the year most Muslims within India knew the name and its importance.
- Punjab, Afghanistan (NWFP), Kashmir, Sindh and Balochistan.
- Muslim League thought his ideas were impractical and ignored by Jinnah.

Quit India Movement:

- Both Muslims and Hindus opposed Cripps Mission
- Full control not given to congress, and independent state not given to Muslims
- British were negotiating from a weak position
- Congress took advantage, asked the British to leave the subcontinent immediately
- Imprisonment of many people

Factors leading to independence

Gandhi-Jinnah Talks

- Gandhi wanted independence first, partition discussion would follow later
- Jinnah the reverse
- Quaid knew that his bargaining position would be weaker if he went along with Gandhi
- Gandhi insisted that he spoke for all of India and couldn't accept muslim as separate nation
- Mostly a failure, as Jinnah wanted 6 provinces but Gandhi was only prepared to give 3
- Equal footing between muslim league and congress for the first time

Lord Wavell initiated Simla Conference

- All parties agreed to the principle of executive council, method of selection was the sticking point
- Two parties couldn't reach any agreement
- Muslims called for new elections

New Elections

- Results demonstrated Congress got majority Hindu vote and ML got majority muslim vote
- ML equal player

Clement Attlee and Punjab violence

- British would leave subcontinent by 1948 – Attlee
- Subsequent violence in march 1948 in Punjab
- Convinced Nehru that independent state should be done asap
- Formalized in the 3 june plan

Direct Action Day:

- 16th August 1946
- Held to stop British from giving into congress
- Concerned they would be asked to form a government
- Quaid called for a peaceful protest
- But serious rioting, thousands of deaths
- British concerned a civil war would occur
- A change of mind grew regarding partition

Cabinet Mission Plan:

- 1946
- Pethick Lawrence (Sec of State), Cripps, (President of Trade), Alexander sent to India to find a settlement acceptable to all
- Found little common ground between both parties
- Interim (provisional government proposed)
- British withdrawal organized
- Proposal rejected, modifications made, which congress rejected
- Plan dropped

Chaudary Rehmat Ali:

- Studied law in Cambridge Uni
- Jinnah refused to meet him
- Produced pamphlet in 1933 (Now or never)
- Used "Pakistan" as name for separate homeland (P for Punjab, A for Afghan, K for Kashmir etc.)
- Wanted a separate federation of muslim states with independence
- Pakistan National Movement
- Ahead of his time
- Muslim league adopted his idea of a separate homeland in 1940

- Idea to form 7 states of commonwealth of pak nations rejected

Jinnah's Achievements:

- 14 points of 1929
- After 1937, decided to reform ML
- Membership grew significantly by 1938
- Without the growth, ML wouldn't bear the fruit when it did
- Used Lahore Resolution (1940) to ensure that ML would only accept partition as a solution
- Opposed Cripps Mission (dominion status)
- Ensured British knew the needs of minorities
- Gandhi-Jinnah talks broken up in 1944 without agreement, but Gandhi knew ML was an important organization
- Due to continuous pressure from ML and Jinnah, 1947 June plan of separate states, India and Pakistan was set up

Dr. Allama Iqbal

- Poet, Philosopher, Politician
- Practised law in England
- Knighted by the British 1922 due to poetry
- Poetry awakened determination, nationhood of Muslims
- Believed in two nation theory
- 1927 appointed General Secretary of ML
- Allahabad speech (separatism) in 1930
- Opposed British control of India
- Encouraged Muslims that they'd need a strong political party to challenge congress
- Adopted by Jinnah to lead the ML

SECTION 3:

Problems faced by Pakistan during 1947-1948:

- Canal water dispute
 - India controlled water supply to Pakistan
 - Threatened agriculture in the Punjab, irrigation system depended on 6 rivers and 30 canals, some of which were in India.
 - April 1948 India shut off waters flowing into Pakistan from Ferozpur headworks, threatening millions of acres of agricultural land in Pakistan.
 - Some waters reinstated in May 1948 but not permanently until 1959 and Indus Water Treaty.
 - Problem dragged till 1959
- Muslims faced terrible atrocities
- Fled to Pakistan
- Needed shelter and food, put pressure on the government
- Shortage of property and experienced personnel
- Made running government extremely difficult
- Pakistan had been awarded 750 Million Rupees but only received 200
- Enormous strain
- Division of armed forces and assets were handled in the same way
- Border problems uncertain (Kashmir)
- Caused problems

Solutions to problems faced by Pakistan during 1947-1948:

- Successes:
 - Quaid-e-Azam relief fund to help refugees
 - He toured the provinces to motivate people
 - Declared himself protector general of religious minorities
 - State bank set up
 - Civil services reorganized
 - Joined UN to direct their attention towards Kashmir problem
 - Karachi made capital
- Failures:
 - Kashmir and Princely States not resolved
 - Canal water dispute not resolved till 1959
 - Millions made homeless or died due to partition

Provision of Education in 1947-1988:

- 70% population illiterate
- Children did not go to school at all
- Meant poor economy and workforce
- Due to lack of gov investment (less than 3% invested)

- Primary classes substantially less funding compared to secondary and higher
- Most private schools for wealthy population
- Military expenditure high
- Education expensive
- Children had to buy their own books, had to drop out

Social problems from 1947-1988

- Cultural differences
- Refugee problems
- Population growth
- Age expectancy
- Infant mortality rates

Islamisation between 1947-1988

- Liaquat Ali Khan Objectives Resolution 1949
 - Used to deflect criticism from religious minorities who said that the constitution wasn't Islamic enough
 - Introduced human rights and Islamic values
- Zia: Pakistan needed a government with strong Islamic values
- 1956 and 1973 constitutions
- 1962 constitution failed to establish an Islamic system
- Martial law in 1969 (Zia's ultimate failure)

Martial Law (1958)

- A lot of prime ministers between 1956-1958
- Ayub Khan thought that the army should be given control until stability and questions answered
- East Pakistan (Bangladesh) wanted more say in the government which increased tensions
- Iskandar Mirza lost support of politicians and was scared Suhrawardy would unite Punjab and Bengal against him
- Turned to military and Ayub Khan for help

Malik Ghulam Mohammad

- 6 year plan
- Covered agriculture, transport, power, industry
- Economic development
- Severe problems faced as well
- Rioting, food shortages, drought
- Government found difficulty in dealing with these problems.
- Resigned in 1956 due to illness

Iskandar Mirza:

- Introduced as governor general in 1956

- Changed the constitution, became president, but scrapped it after in 1958 and introduced martial law
- Introduced one unit policy
- More efficiency and economic development in West Pakistan, but totally ignored East Pakistan
- Rule became increasingly unpopular
- Lost the support of many politicians
- Appointed Ayub Khan as PM in 1958
- Was forced to resign by Ayub Khan

1956 Constitution:

- Adopted by 2nd Constituent Assembly, a compromise between Muslim League and United Front, Islamic Republic of Pakistan pronounced
- Mirza became President who could choose the Prime Minister.
- President had to be a Muslim and had emergency powers and could dissolve National Assembly.
- There was a cabinet (advisory only) and a National and Provincial Assembly.
- Constitution scrapped in 1958 and martial law declared.

Ayub Khan:

- 1959 – Basic Democracies introduced (four tier structure of government) allowing elections at various levels
 - no political parties to take place in the elections held Dec 59 to Jan 60
 - newly elected Bangladeshis would be able to vote in the referendum whether he would remain president
 - 95% said yes
- Successful – martial law lifted
- 1962 – Oil refinery established Karachi
- Mineral development corporation
- Export bonus scheme
- Land redistributed to farmers with medium sized farms
- Agriculture revitalized
- National growth rate rose by 7%
- Crop outputs at record levels
- Economy grew three times faster than any south Asian country
- However, new wealth just in the hands of a few and the general population didn't benefit
- Decade of progress (1958-1969):
 - Medical facilities improved, attempts made to control the population through family planning programme
 - Economic growth through western loans

- Agricultural reforms
- Tried to deflect criticism on government by highlighting reforms that benefited the rich
- Took action on goods being hoarded and resold on the black market at inflated prices
- Fixed the price of milk
- Helped families manage their weekly budget
- Housing programmes for refugees
- Womens rights due to reforms affecting divorce, women marriage age reduced to 16

Difficult to agree on a new constitution in 1950:

- East Pakistan disagreed with drafts in 1950 as they thought they were underrepresented
- Objected to Urdu being the National Language (no Bengali)
- Opposition from local and provincial politicians as they had no input on who would be the head of state
- Religious groups also rejected (new constitution wouldn't put that much emphasis on Islam)

Constitutional Crisis of 1954-1955

- Bogra (PM) had little experience
- GG Ghulam Mohammed expected him to support his authority (puppet)
- Bogra wanted to curb the power
- Bogra introduced amendment to 1935 Gol Act, trying to take away some power
- Caused political crisis
- GM declared state of emergency, dissolved assembly
- Legal challenges, GG won though

Islamabad becomes capital:

- Government officials would be moved away from commercial districts in Karachi to avoid any unwanted influences
- Seemed appropriate to move power base from developed north to underdeveloped south (Punjab)
- Ayub Khan also wanted to stay close to military base in case of martial law
- Karachi had a very humid/hot climate
- Didn't represent the needs of a capital city
- Buildings were not upto a standard
- Layout of port wouldn't did not allow it to take functions of a modern capital
- Position of coast meant it would be vulnerable to attacks in the coast

Creation of Bangladesh:

- Economic factors:
 - Most wealth concentrated in the west, also government expenditure
 - Resentment in east Pakistan
 - Weaker industrial base
 - Regular floods
 - Led to more depression in the area, leading to discontent
 - East mainly produced one of the biggest resources, jute, at that time
 - Wasn't seeing many returns

- Political factors:
 - They were underrepresented in the army and civil service (undemocratic government)
 - Political parties on both sides believed in regionality instead of national sovereignty
 - Demands of six points rejected by Ayub Khan
 - Caused more resentment, felt they were under repression
 - East wanted to negotiate its own trade agreements with other countries and have its own armed forces.
 - Mujib-ur-Rehman arrested

- Awami League
 - Awami league won a majority in East Pakistan
 - They wanted a federal form of government for themselves, separate currencies, armies, separate from Pakistan
 - They wanted to control everything except foreign and defence policies
 - The intervention of Indian troops in East Pakistan in December resulted in a swift conclusion to the fight and Bangladesh became independent.

1970 Elections

- Yahya Khan wasn't allowing Awami League to take over National Assembly
- Awami won landslide victory
- Was in a position to form government
- Even though Zulfikar Ali Bhutto and PPP won elections in west, most likely wouldn't have influence in future gov

Relations after divide:

- 1974 – PM Mujib-ur-Rehman invited to OIC in Lahore, Pakistan officially recognized BD
- Agreed to view each other as muslim friends and resolve their differences
